REPORT OF BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Board of Selectmen:

There have been but few cases of complaint during the year. When complaints have been made they have been promptly attended to, and the cause of danger to health removed.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The list of contagious diseases has been enlarged by the state board of health to include that of typhoid fever, membranous croup and measles. The local board of health is now required to report to the state board of health at the end of each week, instead of at the end of each month as formerly. The cases that have been reported to this board, and by it reported to the state board of health, are as follows, viz :

March—Scarlet fever, 1.

June—Measles, 16.

July—Measles, 18.

August—Measles, 1 ; typhoid fever, 2.

September—Typhoid fever, 1.

October—Typhoid fever, 6.

November—Typhoid fever, 2.

December—Measles, 4.

January, 1894—Measles, 9 ; typhoid fever, 2.

Making in all 62 cases. Four of the typhoid fever cases were imported from out of town.

A. E. BOURN,

GEO. I. CUTLER,

Board of Health.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

At the close of the eighth year since the town constituted a single school district, the board of education present their annual report, feeling assured that our schools have generally proved successful, and have been attended by more than the usual prosperity.

In our list of teachers reported this year, there are five who were not employed in town the year before, and one of these acted as a substitute for another during her illness.

The whole number of registered scholars the present year is 338, against 350 last year. This shows that our schools on the whole have not been quite as fully attended as before.

The selectmen's enumeration of children between the ages of five and fifteen years, gives 138 boys and 132 girls, which about agrees with the number of scholars of the same ages that are registered. Taking the selectmen's report to be correct, it shows nearly a full attendance of the children of these ages.

A different teacher from last year was placed in charge of the school at Factory Village (No. 1). She was well recommended and had a good record in the town where she had taught before. More experience, however, would have enabled her to govern this school better, especially in the beginning. But she appeared to improve from term to term and to gain in her management. It is due to say that she showed much zeal and perseverance in her work, and was a good instructor.

The school at East Swanzey (No. 2) has been a successful one, and has given general satisfaction. The school board was fortunate in obtaining an experienced teacher so well adapted to this place. There have been no complaints this year concerning poor order in this school, and very little about bad deportment of scholars. The teacher was recognized at first and last as the mistress of the school, and as such, fully maintained her position. This school presented an excellent appearance at the closing examination.

The schools in Nos. 4 and 5 have both been successful, and in charge of the same teachers as taught them last year. We are gratified to have native teachers of our town who can succeed so well so near their own homes and among their former school associates.

The village of Westport (No. 7) has been prospered this year by having an excellent school. This teacher was reported last year as eminently successful in the school at Factory Village, where she taught, and we can report her this year equally successful.

In No. 8 there was a first-class school, which was satisfactory, both to the school board and all those concerned. The teacher kept good order, and was thorough and painstaking in her instruction, which at the close of the year showed the best results. This teacher deserves success in whatever school she may engage.

The same teacher was engaged for No. 9 as taught here two terms last year. This has been our smallest school, only seventeen different scholars attending during the year. In the fall term the teacher had to suspend school on account of ill health. The term was successfully finished by Miss Eva L. Carlton, who, as a substitute, taught four weeks. The first teacher resumed her charge during the winter term. We report this a good school, for one of so few scholars. It is a question whether a school of so few scholars, situated as it is, should be continued, and whether it is profitable and for the educational interests of the town to do so.

The teacher who was employed in the spring term for No. 10, and who had taught here the year before, resigned at the close of the first term, much to the regret of the school board and those who sent children to this school. The second teacher, who also did good work in this school, remained only through the fall term. The attendance this term was somewhat broken, which was in part on account of sickness. The winter term was in charge of one of our best teachers, who had formerly taught here for a series of terms, and in whom the people had the fullest confidence. The closing exercises were very satisfactory, and all those present expressed themselves as pleased with the appearance of the school.

The graded schools at West Swanzey, including the grammar, intermediate and primary, have been in charge of the same teachers as taught them last year.

The whole number of registered scholars attending these three schools during the year, has been 125. The largest number registered in any one term, has been 118.

It has been the purpose to keep these schools properly graded and well classified; and every year, at the beginning of the first term, a class has been promoted, on the merits of scholarship, from each of the lower schools to the next higher.

The grammar department has had a year of prosperity. The teacher, through her past experience and acquaintance with the school, was enabled to teach and manage it to the best advantage. Her thorough and improved methods of instruction are well calculated to make good scholars. This was seen with those classes where the grade of scholarship had a higher average than before seen in scholars of the same number of terms of attendance in this room. Due credit is given to a better fitting before entering this school.

The following are the scholars who were promoted to this school at the beginning of the spring term, not including those who were afterward admitted, viz: May Atwood, Lillian Carter, Mary Conboy, May Clarke, Mary Fitzgerald, Lillian Morse, Roy Eastman.

The report which the school board of last year gave of the intermediate school would apply this year. The attendance here has been particularly good, showing a disposition on the part of the scholars to be at school. The teacher has shown a deep interest in her work, which does much to insure success. Good progress was made during the year.

The scholars promoted to this school from the primary at the beginning of the first term, were: Chester Miles, Frank Derby, Earle Capron, Myron Hardy, Forest Morey, Lizzie O'Brien, Mary Sprague, Lizzie Tacey, Ibie Bennett, Maggie Hanrahan, May Hanrahan, Emma Patnode.

The whole number of scholars attending the primary school, has been fifty. The largest number registered any one term, was forty-four.

The teacher has shown much patience in managing so many young children, and was quite successful in pleasing and interesting them. The attendance was good, considering the number of scholars kept out by sickness and on account of the bad weather in winter. The improvement during the year showed that pains had been taken by the teacher in her elementary instruction, which is always important in teaching young scholars their first ideas.

The foregoing is a brief account of our schools. We attribute their success much to the efficient work of the teachers and the aid they have received from parents and others who are interested in the cause of education.

Under the present town system, which has its advantages, we have been able to retain for a series of terms some of our most desirable teachers. A few changes have been made on account of resignation, and, in one or two instances, where the board considered a change for the interests of the school, or teacher.

We have aimed to obtain teachers of some experience, and those who had been successful in other schools, preferring those who had received some normal training to better prepare themselves for their work. We have considered the importance of placing the right teacher in the right place, knowing that there are those who might succeed in some schools, while they would fail in others. Those whose qualifications are below the ordinary standard, and are without experience, cannot expect the best success, or to give always satisfaction.

To prove successful in any profession in the present times of progressive ideas, one must make due preparation, and, besides, have a natural adaptation to the work; and this is particularly true in the profession of teaching.

The average attendance of scholars show well for the school interests of the town. Illness has affected the attendance in some schools more than others, as is liable to occur any year. Although some of the schools have not been as fully attended as they should be, on account of scholars being kept out at work, or for other reason, yet we have had but little occasion to remind parents of the law requiring them to send their children to school the required number of weeks during the year. It is now generally understood that there is such a law, and a notice to those inclined to disregard it, that the law would be enforced, if necessary, has proved sufficient.

As a truant officer to attend to this matter, H. B. Evans has been very serviceable; and he has had occasion a few times, to bring into school a truant boy.

Our school houses are generally in a very fair condition. The small repairs which have been made the past year were necessary, and some more will be needed another year. We realize that the townspeople do not wish and cannot afford to let their school houses become dilapidated and unfit places to send their children. These houses should be made, not only comfortable and convenient, but pleasant and attractive. The children should be taught to preserve school property and be made to understand that they will be held responsible for unnecessarily injuring or destroying it. There are, more or less of those attending school, who are disposed to injure and destroy public property, if not kept under restraint or observation by the teacher, upon whom, for the care of such property much depends.

The house in No. 8, has been painted on the outside, two coats, and its desks and inside wood work oiled and varnished.

This work was needed and has much improved the appearance of the house, which was otherwise in good condition.

Since the annual report of last year, the well, which by vote of the district, was to be dug at West Swanzey, has been completed by digging it three feet deeper. It now furnishes plenty of water by means of a pump which has been put into it.

No changes since last year have been made in text books; but some books had to be purchased in place of those worn out by use, and to supply classes where they had been advanced to a higher grade and had to have new books.

We have introduced for supplementary reading, where needed, "Stories of Child Life," in four grades, and one grade of "The World and Its People," published by Silver, Burdett & Co. These furnish a variety of reading, which is pleasing and interesting to the scholars, and they are well liked by the teachers who use them.

We have orders to furnish more or less such supplies as paper, pens and pencils, and in dealing these out we have depended much upon our teachers, in whom there seems to be a wide difference as to their wants and ideas of economy.

Besides the studies required to be reported and not named in the statistical table appended to this report, 28 scholars attended to bookkeeping; 66 to composition; 17 to physiology; 25 to natural history; 1 to rhetoric; 7 to civil government; 4 to physical geography; 23 to drawing, and 122 to vocal music.

In reviewing the standing of our schools as a whole, we have reason to believe that there is a fair degree of interest shown in them by the citizens of the town, but it is more manifest in some localities than in others. We judge of this somewhat by the number of visits of parents and others, and the encouragement and aid they give the teachers in their work, and kind suggestions and assistance given the school board in the discharge of their official duties are always welcome.

The prosperity of our schools depends not altogether upon your school board and the teachers, it rests much upon the sentiment of the people and their united efforts in favor of good schools.
